

Timely summaries and commentary of important clinical research

NEJM Journal Watch, published by NEJM Group, expertly curates and summarizes the medical literature, delivering key takeaways that keep healthcare professionals informed and ready to apply the latest knowledge in practice.

NEJM Journal Watch, along with the New England Journal of Medicine and other NEJM Group publications, is available online to institutions via the Ovid platform — and subscribers have access to content on both Ovid and nejm.org.

Why NEJM Journal Watch?

Now more than ever, clinicians are challenged with balancing resource limitations with innovative care practices. Leaders are struggling to manage change in practice while ensuring staff satisfaction and retention.

It's vital for medical libraries to help clinicians quickly find the best information to build confidence and skills among clinicians, ultimately improving patient care.

NEJM Journal Watch content is easily accessible and grounded in clinical context so clinicians everywhere can absorb, understand, and use the information in their practice to improve patient outcomes.

About NEJM Group

NEJM Group, a division of the Massachusetts Medical Society, offers a collection of journals and content resources with breakthrough research and information that changes practice and improves the delivery of patient care. Resources maintain the highest scientific standards so practitioners, researchers, educators, learners, and medical professionals stay current on the latest discoveries, develop skills and knowledge, implement practical solutions, develop policies, and improve teaching and learning.

NEJM Group resources on the Ovid platform include the New England Journal of Medicine, NEJM Evidence, NEJM AI, NEJM Archive, and NEJM Catalyst Innovations in Care Delivery journals, as well as NEJM Iournal Watch.
