Wolters Kluwer

Supporting the future ready accountant

Wolters Kluwer has been supporting accounting practices of all sizes since 1968. As your trusted software partner, we have a tool for every stage of your digital journey—present and future. CCH Central provides end-to-end accounting software for accountants, while CCH iFirm, our cloud accounting suite, enables you to reimagine your practice in the cloud.

About Wolters Kluwer Tax & Accounting UK

Our customers often face similar challenges: they deal with too much information and too much complexity, placing pressure on their individual and collective productivity. They want to embrace modern technology to grow their practice, drive greater efficiency, and ensure compliance with the ever-changing regulatory requirements.

As a trusted software partner, we work side by side with accountants to understand their needs and address rapid changes in their environment. We constantly invest in tools, technology stacks, and educational materials that optimise accountants' experience with us.

Whether you work in practice or manage an in-house finance team, our solutions are scalable to meet your organisation's needs. Our priority is to help you optimise your clients' journey with you: creating a seamless end-to-end accounting experience.

CCH Central: End-to-end tax and accounting software

Through our market-leading platform, CCH Central, we redefine software integration by delivering a complete picture of your practice and your clients.

This enables you to drive efficiency and greater collaboration across your practice, adding value for clients. CCH Central is a fully integrated central database, meaning it intelligently shares information wherever and whenever it's needed.

"The onboarding to CCH Central was great—Wolters Kluwer provided in-office training, which made the transition smooth. It really helped our team get up to speed quickly. We've seen massive improvements in terms of time saving, particularly with tax returns and billing. The processes are much faster, and we're able to complete more tasks than ever before, in less time."
