Compliance covered

CCH Accounts Production gives your team confidence that every set of accounts satisfies current statutory and legal requirements. The software supports high-quality accounts preparation across a wide range of client types, helping practices stay compliant while keeping the process efficient.

Accounts can be produced in standard and specialist formats, with compliance updates helping your practice keep pace with changing standards and disclosure requirements.

Paperless working and working paper management

When integrated with CCH Working Paper Management, CCH Accounts Production rovides an efficient, paperless way to store and manage supporting documentation for each client. Working papers are held in a centralised location, giving teams instant access to the information they need for review, sign-off, and quality control.

Format, process and tag data

Year-end accounts filing is easier when source data can be accessed quickly, and the correct data tags are applied efficiently. CCH Accounts Production supports iXBRL tagging and accounts filing processes, helping practices prepare compliant outputs with less manual effort.

Quickly customise final accounts

Custom styles can be applied without changing the underlying accounts formats, so your practice can maintain house style while making client-specific modifications where needed. Teams can adjust wording, presentation, disclosures, and layout while retaining control over format updates.

Review and amend accounts on screen

The final accounts review process is made simpler with on-screen review tools. Users can drill down from the accounts preview to underlying data, review nominal balances and make amendments more easily before accounts are finalised.

Reduce risk with exception reports

Exception reports highlight potential issues before accounts are finalised, helping your team identify anomalies quickly and address missing or inconsistent disclosures. This reduces risk for both your practice and your clients, while improving the quality of the final report.

Part of an integrated CCH software suite

CCH Accounts Production works as part of the wider CCH software suite, helping practices connect accounts production with tax, document management, workflow, and practice management. With data flowing between applications, teams can reduce rekeying, improve visibility, and create a more efficient end-to-end client workflow.
