

Ovid[®] Synthesis

For educational leadership who need support in developing competency-based education around evidence-based practice, quality improvement, and research, Ovid Synthesis is a workflow solution that streamlines the execution of project design, implementation, and evaluation, providing consistency with teaching, learning, and practice.

The challenge

- ⊗ Variation of instructional approaches and project outputs
- ⊗ Lack of organization and standardization
- ⊗ Increase of enrollment and workload
- ⊗ Limited clinical partners
- ⊗ Insufficient training opportunities
- ⊗ Faculty engagement

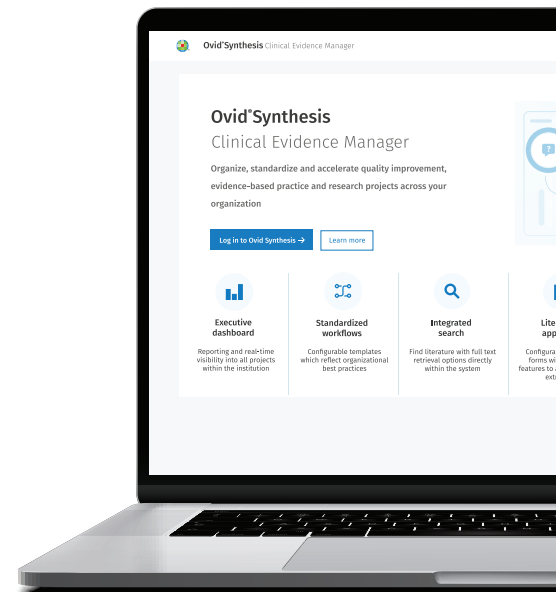

“I love this tool. It allows the users to see the big picture and progression as well as to keep everything in one place. It’s a great product.”

– DNP Student

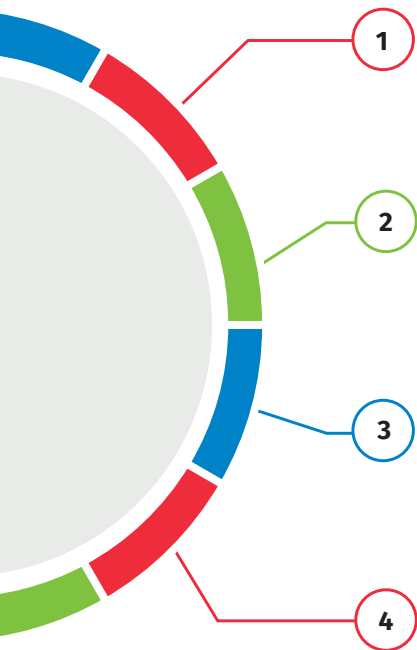

The solution

As standards and requirements of academic nursing programs grow and evolve, the integration of outcome-based education, competency training, and innovative technology such as Ovid Synthesis will be paramount. These resources not only enrich the curricula but also prepare students to meet and exceed accreditation standards while fostering the professional development essential for a career in nursing.

Nursing institutions that implement such technologies stand to benefit from improved financial performance, heightened nursing satisfaction, and an elevated standard of patient care — ensuring their graduates are ready for the dynamic landscape of healthcare.

How we can help:

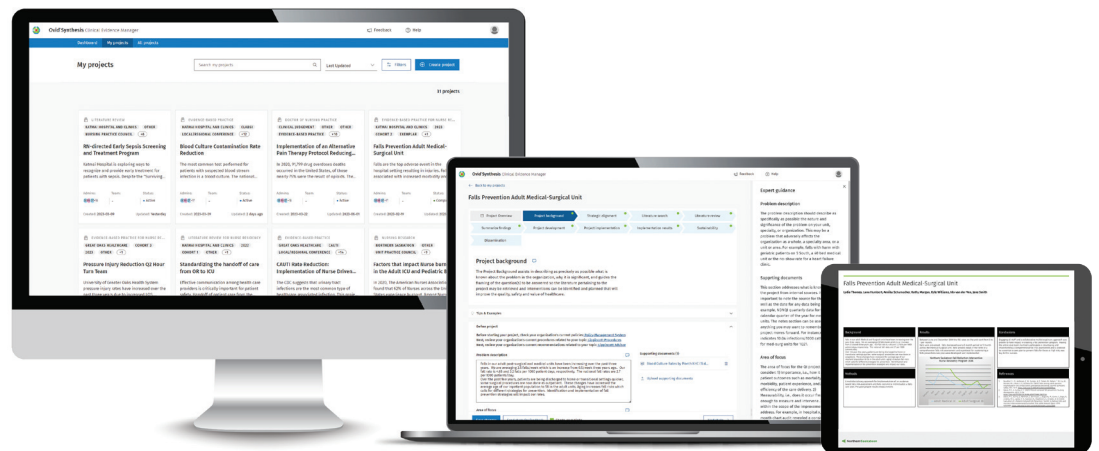

Oversight: Offer a transparent and empowering environment for faculty to monitor and support student progress.

Expert Guidance: Equip future nursing professionals with the competencies and confidence to incorporate evidence and quality improvement into their practice.

Standardization: Meet competency-based education standards including the AACN Essentials framework by offering standardized templates and decision-support tools.

Collaboration: Enhance the learning experience by providing a structured approach to research, project management, and collaboration.

“This makes literature search easy. This helps to organize the parts of my student papers that they used to have to manually integrate.”

- Associate Professor, School of Nursing
