Terms and Conditions

Requesting Party, acknowledges and agrees that Requesting Party's use of the UpToDate Material is subject to the following terms and conditions. Any use of the UpToDate Material by Requesting Party except as provided herein is strictly prohibited.

UpToDate, Inc. ("UpToDate") grants to Requesting Party, a limited, nonexclusive, nontransferable, revocable, world-wide license to use, copy, reproduce, reprint, redistribute and display the UpToDate Material solely in the Work in the English language only. The license is valid for one-time use or life of an edition only. Requesting Party understands that Requesting Party does not acquire any ownership interest or right, or, except as specifically stated herein, license as to the Copyrighted Material through this authorization, and UpToDate, Inc expressly reserves all rights that are not expressly conveyed by this authorization.

Requesting Party will publish a proper copyright notice and attribution to UpToDate. as the source in the Work. The UpToDate copyright notice should appear next to or on the same page as the UpToDate Material and should read, as follows (or as otherwise instructed by UpToDate): "Copyright © [Year] UpToDate, Inc. and its affiliates and/or licensors. All rights reserved."

Requesting Party will credit UpToDate only as a source of the UpToDate Material. Requesting Party will not state or imply that UpToDate is responsible for the Work in which the UpToDate Material is reprinted or that UpToDate has reviewed, verified, endorsed, or in any way commented on the Work or Requesting Party's use of the UpToDate Material or any data, views, opinions, or findings expressed, shared or otherwise reported therein.

Requesting Party understands that UpToDate has not made, and does not hereby make, any representation and/or warranty of any kind as to the UpToDate Material, including any warranty as to the accuracy, completeness, comprehensiveness, currency or suitability of the UpToDate Material.

Requesting Party will not disclose the UpToDate Material described above except as specifically set forth herein without further written consent from UpToDate.

UpToDate may, in its sole and exclusive discretion, modify, discontinue or otherwise remove any content from the UpToDate Materials. UpToDate reserves the right at any time to withdraw this authorization to license the UpToDate Materials or any part of the UpToDate Materials for which it no longer retains the right to publish. Upon notice from UpToDate, Receiving Party will immediately cease its use of the UpToDate Materials and destroy all Work that incorporates the UpToDate Material, including all copies of the UpToDate Material and all portions thereof.

Requesting Party agrees to defend, indemnify and hold harmless UpToDate, including its affiliates, parents, subsidiaries, officers, directors, employees, and agents from and against any and all loss, damage, liability or expense, or claims thereof, asserted by any third party, including any third party provider of information or data to UpToDate, arising out of Requesting Party's use of the UpToDate Material or breach of these terms and conditions, except to the extent that such loss, damage, liability or expense, or claim thereof arises out of UpToDate's lack of authority or lack of contractual right to provide the license to the UpToDate Material granted in this authorization.

By signing below, Requesting Party acknowledges its acceptance and agreement to these terms and conditions. The parties agree that these Terms and Conditions and any other documents to be delivered in connection herewith may be electronically signed, and that any electronic signatures appearing on these Terms and Conditions or such other documents are the same as handwritten signatures for the purposes of validity, enforceability, and admissibility.
