Modernization of Corporate Legal

Global growth is the biggest fundamental driver of change within the legal department. Enterprises are struggling to manage the volume of legal entities in their global organizations. IDC's survey, U.S. Modernization of Corporate Legal reveals how and why legal is changing, and what leadership is doing in response.

84% of legal departments have made efforts to evolve in the last three to four years.

Global Growth Drives the Evolution of Corporate Legal Departments

Where Do Legal Departments Need the Most Change?

Legal Is Transforming

Organizations are choosing one of three primary strategic transformation mechanisms:

50.6% Technology investments

64.0% of respondents said implementing legal technology was the biggest pain point.

28.2% Human capital investments

Outsourcing work to managed service providers

The Value of Partnering with a Legal Services Provider

Partnering Drives Major Efficiency Gains

Cost efficiency and extra bandwidth contribute to the interest in legal services provider engagements. 57.0% of respondents say outsourcing saves the equivalent productivity and workload of at least 21 employees.

Not All Legal Services Providers Are Created Equal

The volume and variety of regulations and jurisdictions has increased risk. Engaging a legal services provider can measurably improve legal department efficiency and help reduce costs. CT offers the expert support your company needs to pursue growth strategies, while maintaining good standing.

To learn more, contact a representative at 866.692.1202 or click here.