

OneSumX® for Compliance Program Management

NILS™ INsource®

Industry-specific information and flexible and intuitive functionality provide the tools and expert analysis needed to monitor the latest regulatory developments and activities.

All research begins with questions. How effectively you find your way to the answers can make all the difference. Compliance professionals must ensure that functional areas receive accurate and timely advice on current and changing legal requirements. State statutes, regulations, and guidance documents hold the answers to insurance compliance questions, but also pose the challenges of sheer volume and variations among jurisdictions.

NILS INsource can help. NILS INsource is a web-based regulatory research tool designed exclusively for insurance compliance professionals. The foundation of a solid compliance program, NILS INsource goes beyond basic research. Our team of compliance experts reads and analyzes every citation, resulting in uniquely indexed content providing greater accuracy and more relevant search results.

Supported by our team of experts who understand the insurance industry, NILS solutions combine proven technology, regulatory content, and the expertise of Wolters Kluwer Financial Services. NILS INsource provides regulatory intelligence and research unique and critical to the business of insurance, ensuring that users get the focused content needed for efficient research and effective compliance.

Now including NILS Hub for faster and easier search

- Easily access and research the most recent information, and monitor legislative and regulatory proposals
- Get search suggestions, conduct faster, more extensive searches, and get smarter, more helpful results
- Find focused and relevant documents by accessing index and title search from automatic search suggestions
- Get index terms related to your search and easily access insurance concepts to find more accurate results
