

JAMA: Journal of the American Medical Association on Ovid®

Ovid provides a combination of quality and access options so you can own a solution that's perfect for your institution.

Published by the American Medical Association (AMA) continuously since 1883, JAMA is an international peer-reviewed general medical journal and one of the most widely circulated general medical journals in the world, also available on Ovid.

The journal's aim is to advance both the science and art of medicine, while also contributing to the improvement of public health. As a part of the JAMA Network, a collective of peer-reviewed general and specialized medical publications, JAMA possesses outreach and an author-centric process that spans from manuscript submission to publication.

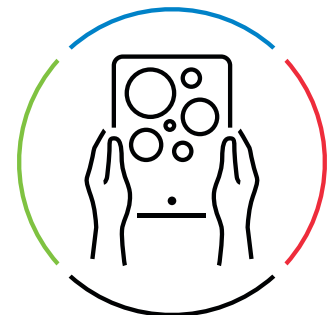

JAMA effectively engages a global audience of physicians, healthcare professionals, researchers, policymakers, librarians, journalists, and individuals invested in the realms of medicine and public health.
