

OneSumX® for Compliance Program Management

NILS™ Contract Provisions

Get state requirements right the first time. With fewer resources spent reworking filings to meet state requirements, go to market on time and on budget.

Product managers face ever-increasing demands to meet both speed to market and corporate revenue goals in an environment of complex and frequently changing regulatory requirements, often with reduced resources.

OneSumX NILS Contract Provisions is a web-based search engine specifically designed for product development professionals. Using OneSumX NILS Contract Provisions' intuitive research features, users can quickly access easy-to-read research summaries of state requirements covering contract provisions and required language links in all states. Identifying provisional language and related requirements has never been easier or faster.

Supported by our team of experts who understand the insurance industry, OneSumX NILS solutions combine proven technology, regulatory content, and the expertise of Wolters Kluwer Financial Services. OneSumX NILS operational compliance tools provide workflow-specific regulatory content, analysis, and forms in an easy-to-use web-based tool. Timely and relevant data, intuitive research, and powerful search tools provide the ideal solution to improve productivity and reduce non-compliance risks.

- Efficiently address research needs for contract provisions
- Obtain answers to the key regulatory questions impacting contract language development processes within an insurance company
- Expedite the creation of policy language through immediate access to state-mandated language excerpts, taking the guesswork out of provision language requirements
