European Business Law Review

Author Guide

[A] Aim of the Journal

The mission of the European Business Law Review is to provide a forum for analysis and discussion of business law, including European Union law and the laws of the Member States and other European countries, as well as legal frameworks and issues in international and comparative contexts. The Review moves freely over the boundaries that divide the law, and covers business law, broadly defined, in public or private law, domestic, European or international law. Our topics of interest include commercial, financial, corporate, private and regulatory laws with a broadly business dimension. The Review offers current, authoritative scholarship on a wide range of issues and developments, featuring contributors providing an international as well as a European perspective. The Review is an invaluable source of current scholarship, information, practical analysis, and expert guidance for all practising lawyers, advisers, and scholars dealing with European business law on a regular basis.

The Review has over 25 years established the highest scholarly standards. It distinguishes itself as open-minded, embracing interests that appeal to the scholarly, practitioner and policy-making spheres. It practices strict routines of peer review. The Review imposes no word limit on submissions, subject to the appropriateness of the word length to the subject under discussion.

[C] Submission Guidelines

[1] Manuscripts should be submitted electronically, in Word format, via e-mail.
[2] Submitted manuscripts are understood to be final versions. Exclusive submission is required; articles must not have been published or submitted for publication elsewhere.
[3] Only articles in English will be considered for publication. Manuscripts should be written in standard English. Preferred reference source is the Oxford English Dictionary. However, in case of quotations the original spelling should be maintained.
[4] The article should contain an abstract, a short summary of about 100-200 words. This abstract will also be added to the free search zone of the Kluwer Online database.
[5] To further boost the search engine optimization (SEO) of your article, please provide approximately ten keywords that describe the content of your contribution (including where applicable the jurisdiction or organization commented on).
[6] If an article comments on legislation or jurisprudence, please highlight full details of the referenced material. For jurisprudence specifically, this means the parties involved, court name, case number, and decision date. This will ensure clarity, traceability, and accurate metadata tagging.
[7] A brief biographical note, including the current affiliation, should be provided in the first footnote of the manuscript.
[8] Special attention should be paid to quotations, footnotes, and references. All citations and quotations must be verified before submission of the manuscript. The accuracy of the contribution is the responsibility of the author. The journal has adopted the Association of Legal

Writing Directors (ALWD) legal citation style to ensure uniformity. Citations should not appear in the text but in the footnotes. Footnotes should be numbered consecutively, using the footnote function in Word so that if any footnotes are added or deleted the others are automatically renumbered.

[9] Tables should be self-explanatory and their content should not be repeated in the text. Do not tabulate unnecessarily. Tables should be numbered and should include concise titles.

[10] Heading levels should be clearly indicated.

For further information on style, see the House Style Guide.

[D] Review Process

[1] Before submission to the publisher, Editors will review each submission for suitability. All potentially eligible articles are then sent for double-blind peer review.

[2] The journal's policy is to provide an initial assessment of the submission within thirty days of receiving the posted submission. In cases where the article is externally referred for review, this period may be extended.

[3] The editors reserve the right to make alterations as to style, punctuation, grammar etc.

[4] The author will also receive PDF proofs of the article, and any corrections should be returned within the scheduled dates.
