
MIDIRS Resources

databases@ovid.com

Current full-text and bibliographic midwifery and nursing research

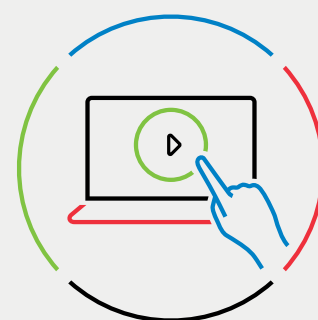

Midwives, students, and nurses with a practice focus on maternity and childcare demand easy access to new and best practice information as well as professional development news.

MIDIRS, an educational non-profit charity based in the UK, is many professionals' source of choice for high-quality, evidence-based resources. And two of those resources – MIDIRS Midwifery Digest and Maternity and Infant Care Database – are now available via Ovid® and Nursing@Ovid.

Either platform enables users to search all MIDIRS resources at the same time and find precise information quickly so they can succeed — in class or in practice.

Why MIDIRS content on Ovid?

- Support maternal choice and well-informed clinical decision-making with one-click access to research from one of the world's most recognized sources of maternity care information.
- Search MIDIRS journal and database content with just a single query.
- Results are displayed in a concise, easy to read single results list.
- Enjoy embargo-free journal access and keep up to date with the fast-changing world of midwifery care.
- Use Nursing@Ovid to search MIDIRS content together with all of your subscribed nursing resources.
- The proprietary Ovid Nursing Subject Thesaurus enhances search and discovery.

- Provide practitioners in midwifery, OBGYN, and nursing with one-click access to premier content from a leading international source in pregnancy, childbirth, and midwifery.
- Search journal and database content simultaneously with just one search query,
- Choose the right tool for your search — from controlled vocabulary searching to natural language processing — for quick, relevance-ranked results.
- Take advantage of time-saving workflow features, including inline abstracts, AutoAlerts, and journal eTOCS delivered via RSS feed, flexible search results sorting, and more

Core resources from MIDIRS, a leading international information resource on childbirth and infancy, available on Ovid

Maternity and Infant Care database

Both in training and in practice, healthcare professionals supporting women during pregnancy and following childbirth are already using the Maternity and Infant Care database on Ovid.

Midwives, physicians, clinicians, researchers, and students can search more than 300,000 bibliographic references to articles from over 400 different sources, including journals, books, reports, guidelines, government publications, and more. Each bibliographic reference in the Maternity and Infant Care database includes an abstract, is assigned keywords and categorised by type and format to enhance searching. Approximately 1,000 new records are added each month.

Produced by the MIDIRS team of information specialists, the database is international in scope and spans a wide range of subject areas, including:

- The midwifery profession
- Pregnancy
- Labour
- Birth
- Postnatal care
- Infant feeding
- Neonatal care up to the first six weeks of an infant's life, and the transition to parenthood

The earliest record on the database dates from 1857, with comprehensive coverage from 1988 onwards.

Indexed sources include leading UK and international midwifery, maternal, and infant health publications, as well as selective content from medical, allied, and public health titles. These include:

- Acta Obstetrica et Gynecologica Scandinavica
- Australian and New Zealand Journal of Obstetrics & Gynaecology
- Birth
- BJOG
- BMJ
- Breastfeeding Medicine
- Infants & Young Children
- JOGNN (Journal of Obstetric, Gynecologic, and Neonatal Nursing)
- Maternal & Child Nutrition
- Midwifery
- Nursing for Women's Health
- Practising Midwife

Transforming research into results

Ovid is your complete online research solution, offering a single online destination where you can search, discover, and manage the critical information you need to streamline your research productivity and your work.

- Work the way you want to work with a variety of search modes and customizable work productivity and content alerting tools.
- Save and manage critical research findings and documents in a dedicated work area: My Projects.
- Search all Ovid resources — books, journals, and databases — simultaneously with just one query.

Ovid worldwide headquarters

333 7th Avenue
New York, NY 10001
(646) 674-6300
(800) 343-0064
Email: sales@ovid.com

Additional sales offices are located in the following cities and countries:

Alphen aan den Rijn, The Netherlands
Beijing, China
Berlin, Germany