

Always committed to clinical effectiveness

Every year, Wolters Kluwer works hard to deliver the best evidence-based drug content and guidance in Lexicomp,® clinical decision support in UpToDate® and patient solutions in Emmi,® so that everyone can make the best decisions every time.

2022

More international brand names are added.

Content is expanded for antibiotic pharmacokinetics, and for dosing by indication for adult, pediatric, neonates, and people with liver dysfunction.

Interactive calculators are refreshed.

2021

The Trissel's IV Compatibility tool becomes easier to use thanks to new design.

More inclusive language is used.

Enhanced search and machine learning deliver faster answers and better logic.

2020

Integration of Formulink in UpToDate allows prescribers to seamlessly access custom formularies.

COVID-19 content is expanded.

Redesigned and expanded Adverse Drug Reactions (ADR) bring critical content to the forefront.

Enhanced renal dosing provides clearer guidance for complex cases.

Expanded content is added about bariatric surgery effects on drug absorption and dosing, and dosing for adults with obesity.

Somatic gene-drug associations for targeted therapies are added to the Pharmacogenomics (PGx) content.

Reproductive considerations information is added.

Patient Counseling Point leaflets are redesigned for concise directives.

COVID-19 vaccines tracker is released.

2019

The proprietary "Search in your own language" technology is rolled out.

New design for iOS mobile app offers a faster and customizable experience.

2018

New design for Lexicomp and UpToDate delivers seamless experience.

Adult dosing and other select drug content is aligned in Lexicomp, UpToDate, and Emmi.

2017

Adult drug dosing for antimicrobials, the most viewed type of content, is aligned in Lexicomp and UpToDate.

Rapid sequence intubation calculator is added.

More experts and editors are recruited for greater coverage of subspecialties.

2016

The PGx database is revamped to concise gene-drug presentation with a focus on germline.

2015

The new Multinational drug database is published.

Trissel's IV Compatibility tool is released.

2014

The off-label drug database is expanded.

More calculators are added through MedCalc.

2013

UpToDate and Lexicomp editorial teams start developing consistent drug content.

2011

Lexicomp joins Wolters Kluwer.

All content is now available through a single app for Android and Apple devices.

Pharmacists and experts outside the U.S. are recruited to develop multinational content.

2006

Establishes partnership with the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists.

2005

The new PGx database is published.

2001-2002

First mobile apps are released to bring drug monographs to clinicians' pockets.

2000-2004

New, interactive calculators and the Drug Interactions and Formulink tools launch.

2000

Lexicomp is available online.

1995

Lexicomp and UpToDate editors begin collaborating.

1993

Lexicomp drug reference handbooks and accompanying CD-ROM are published.

Original version offers a comprehensive multidisciplinary approach to clinical drug information, and covers adult and pediatric dosing, antimicrobials, ADRs, off-label indications, oncology, and critical care among others.

1991

Establishes partnership with the American Pharmacists Association.

1990

Leonard L. Lance, RPh, and Robert D. Kerscher publish the first custom drug formulary for Baptist Medical Center of Oklahoma.